

Dovecote Tower

Published on www.torun.pl (<https://www.torun.pl>)

Dovecote Tower

One of many towers that are preserved to temporary times in the town walls from the Vistula River Side, it is called "Dovecote" and was built in the Middle Ages.

It was named after pigeon-houses for mail pigeons, which were placed there in XIX century for messenger pigeons used by Prussian garrison for exchanging information among fortified cities.